Doctor and Pony Tail Door Knockers

Doctor and Pony Tail knockers are hugely popular on traditional period properties, where timber doors were personalised by a huge choice of furniture styles from local ironmongers. Doctor and Pony Tail allow modern door manufacturers to offer their customers increased personalisation through a wider choice of greenteQ knocker styles.

The Doctor knocker is a 2 part product (knocker body and strike plate) that features the flamboyant flowing lines often chosen by the Victorian professional classes to mark themselves out as such. The fact that the design allows for a hefty rap on the door to wake a sleeping physician in the event of an emergency may also be a factor in the name!

Making less of a statement, perhaps, but no less stylish, the Pony Tail knocker (given its name as it resembles a pony's flat tail when viewed from behind) offers a more compact and subtle design that provides homeowners with another attractive alternative to the standard urn knocker styles.

All Kappa knockers feature the quick fit fixing method to speed up and simplify the fitting process, whilst removing the need to fix through the door.

Doctor and Pony Tail knockers are part of the greenteQ Suite.
